VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS FOR SCHOOL WORK

City Superintendent George Offers
Timely Hints

YOUR ASSISTANCE WILL HELP MATERIALLY

The Co-operation of all Needed
for Best Results

The public schools of Alamogordo will open Sept. 4. Pupils should see the superintendent in the high school office before that time and be classified and receive a list of books needed for the year. Those who have never attended the Alamogordo schools should come at some other day than those designated for certain grades. On August 17 at nine o'clock I want to meet the freshman class, at one o'clock the sophomore class. August 18, at nine o'clock the junior class and the senior class at one o'clock. August 21, at nine o'clock the eighth grade, and the seventh grade at one o'clock. August 22, at nine o'clock the sixth grade and at one o'clock the fifth grade. August 28, the fourth grade at nine o'clock and the third grade, at one o'clock. August 29, at nine o'clock the second grade and the first grade at one o'clock. All pupils will please bear in mind that if they come at some other time that they must wait their turn.

New pupils can come at any hour not set apart for another class. It will save much time and trouble if all will be classified on time, have your books and be ready for work the first day of school. A pupil who is always on time and prepares his lessons has no fears of promotion at the close of the school term. We must make this the best year in the history of Alamogordo public schools. The best asset that a city or town can have is a good school. The best that a pupil can have is a good education. The way to get a good education is to be present every day and have good lessons. Try to be the best pupil in school. In play be a leader, in class have the best lessons, in deportment 100 per cent. A pupil who is neat and clean, kind to parents and playmates, who has a kind disposition at all times will make a mark in this world. Make good resolutions before the opening of school and live up to them and every one will respect you. Do not get pouty if you are not classed as high as you think you should be, but be a worker and you will soon be promoted to the place you belong. It is much better to receive a promotion at the close of the first month than to receive a note, work harder or you will be placed in a lower class. The manly boy does not smoke cigarettes and chew tobacco, but leaves that for those small boys who do not know any better. Tobacco never makes a boy larger, but smaller. It does not prepare him for a good strong man nor does it make him a good athlete. At the training table such things are not allowed and many of the things you now eat are taken from your bill of fare. It is to be hoped that all of the school boys will stop the use of

Governor's Son Making Good

Wilson Mills, son of Governor Mills, Yale 1910, and now studying law at the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, is putting in part of his vacation as a law student in the law office of Renehan and Davis. Mr. Mills was hard at work this morning in the capitol law library on a big brief of a case which Mr. Renehan has appealed to the territorial supreme court. Mr. Mills made a very enviable record at Ann Arbor during the passed year, having been one of ten selected by the faculty from 300 law students to be a member of the Woolsock Club.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

Advertising This Section

The Texas Magazine in its August number produces a descriptive article from the pen of William H. Woodwell, who spent the early summer of 1908 in Alamogordo. The subject is "Camping in the Sacramento Mountains, or One of New Mexico's Most Popular Playgrounds." Accompanying the write-up are several photographs of Box canyon and other scenes in the Sacramentos. Also a view of the Tularosa valley. In the June issue appeared a descriptive article on Tularosa, the Tularosa valley and the Tularosa canyon.—Tularosa Tribune.

ROCK ISLAND AND SOUTHWESTERN IMMIGRATION MEN HERE

Spend Tuesday in Looking Over Alamo and Vicinity

Are Greatly Pleased With the Possibilities of Development

Alamogordo had the pleasure of entertaining this week a party of distinguished visitors. The party arrived Monday night, in Rock Island and El Paso and Southwestern business cars, and spent all of Tuesday in looking over Alamogordo and vicinity. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cottrell, Alvin T. Stienel, L. B. Allen, R. S. Connell, G. F. Hawks, Eugene Fox.

Mr. Cottrell is the commissioner of agriculture for the Rock Island Lines; Mr. Stienel is the editor of "The Southwest Trail," the official immigration and boosting publication of the Rock Island Lines; Mr. Hawks is the general superintendent, and Mr. Fox the general freight and passenger agent of the El Paso and Southwestern Route; Mr. Allen is the son of the passenger traffic manager of the Rock Island Lines, and was the guest of the inspection party; Mr. Connell is a resident of Tularosa, and also a guest of the party.

Mr. Cottrell and Mr. Stienel are making a tour of all the Rock Island territory, in order to get first-hand information as to the possibilities of development of the varied resources. The Immigration business which they are directing is one of the largest in the world, and they are making careful and elaborate plans to conduct that business with the greatest degree of intelligence. While this section is not exactly Rock Island territory, it is traversed by a direct-connecting line, and is therefore, in a sense, tributary territory.

"The Southwest Trail" frequently has made mention of Alamogordo and Otero county. One of the numbers issued in the summer of 1908 devoted considerable space to pictures and a description of Alamogordo and Otero county. The Alamo Business Men's Club distributed several hundred copies of that number as an excellent advertisement of our resources.

An early number of the publication will contain further honorable mention of Alamogordo and vicinity. Mr. Stienel, who is a newspaper writer of fine training and the widest experience, will prepare the articles. Some excellent photographs, which were made by Mrs. Cottrell, may be used to illustrate the articles.

The party drove out east as far as the reservoir, and inspected the Wadsworth and Kanady places, and drove around Alamogordo. The Carl place, where the irrigation water is supplied by pumping, was also visited. All the members of the party expressed surprise and delight at the prospects and possibilities. They think that Alamogordo and Tularosa are the garden spots of the Southwest.

Mr. Hawks visits Alamogordo every once in a while and is a great deal interested in the future of this section. He has sent out a number of boxes of the finest peaches to his friends at a distance.

Tickets will be placed on sale October 7, two days before the fair and will be valid until October 16, two days after the last day of the exposition.

Mrs. J. J. Sanders, Will Barney, Ed., Mae and Nellie Sanders, Louis Reed, Dr. C. A. Miller and wife, Mrs. T. L. Gee, Miss Hazel Shelton, Miss Olive Thomas, Mrs. E. T. Gunton and daughter Margaret, made a getaway to the Ruidosa Wednesday to be gone from two days to two weeks. Part of the company are to return by way of Clouderoft.—Tularosa Tribune.

Mrs. G. J. Wolfinger and Louis left Tuesday afternoon on the limited to spend a month on the Pacific coast.

Henry S. Evans, O. E. Thomas, and J. L. Lawson went to High Rolls and Mountain Park Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday with their families.

New Mexico Peaches in the New York Market

The following is taken from the Carlsbad Current, issue of August 4:

"New York, July 28.—The first car of New Mexico peaches to arrive in New York market, came in Thursday morning from the Rio Pecos orchard, at Carlsbad, New Mexico, to Lyon Brothers Co. The fruit was packed in California style boxes. The peaches were perfect specimens of the Elberta, impressive in color, conformation and size. It would be hard to imagine a more ideally shaped Elberta, and the condition of the fruit was all that could be desired. Once the buyers woke up to the fine quality of these peaches they were eager to take hold, and it is good betting that the price of this first car—around $1.60—will be materially increased when the next one is offered.—From the Fruitman's Guide, of July 29.

C. R. McCalmont, cashier for the El Paso and Southwestern at Carrizozo, and formerly holding a similar position in Alamogordo, was here spending Sunday with his family.

Miss Predarica Greenberg of Three Rivers is home from her summer work at Silver City Normal, and is spending a week with her sister, Mrs. A. G. Carlson.

AVIATION KING COMING TO ALBUQUERQUE FAIR

Glenn H. Curtiss to be Stellar

THREE DAYS BEGINNING
OCTOBER ELEVENTH

Record Breaking Attendance is Anticipated

Albuquerque, N. M. Aug. 7.—Glenn H. Curtiss, probably the best known aviator in the world, general director of the Curtiss Exhibition Company of New York, a man who has awed and amazed thousands by his thrilling flights, has signed a contract with the New Mexico Fair Association for two flights daily in Albuquerque on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of Fair week, October 9 to 14. It is not yet known whether Mr. Curtiss will make the flights himself, or whether they will be made by one of his associate aviators, Jno. A. McCurdy, Eugene B. Ely, Hugh A. Robinson, James J. Ward, Lincoln Beachey and C. C. Witmer, all of whom have splendid records for flight on many fields. The conditions of the contract signed in New York Wednesday afternoon between P. E. McCanna, Chairman of the Advisory Board of the Fair Association, and Mr. Curtiss on behalf of his company, are that there shall be two flights daily on three days of Fair week, one flight to be at least over five hundred feet high. The fact that an aviation meet has been secured for the State Fair, and that aviators of international reputation will participate, more than assured the success of the amusement feature of the fall exhibition.

INSURRECTOS SURGE AND INSURGE WITHOUT AVAL

Federals Easily Repulse Sundry
Attacks

ALL NOTABLES PRESENT
EXCEPT GENERAL DIAZ

Fourteen to Three is the Awful
Record

By STAN

The ball game Sunday between the Alamos and a picked team was on the order of a comedy. The Alamos were nicknamed "The Federals," and the picked team was called "Insurrectos." The only trouble with the Insurrectos was that, unlike their predecessors they couldn't insure.

Gen. Diaz, otherwise known as Serg. Clarkson, did not show up, having abdicated his throne—first base—in favor of "Navarro," C. Baldwin. Some of the other Federals also did not show up, so a general call for volunteers for the expected slaughter was sent out.

The artillery for the Federals consisted of "Cuellar" Pelphrey and "Rabago" D. Baldwin, with "Tamborel" John Sherry for reinforcement, while that of the Insurrectos was "Orozco" Jim Saulsberry and "Blanco" Fred Saulsberry, with "Villa" Floyd Haynes for reinforcement.

"Cuellar" Pelphrey had his cannon there with the usual amount of smoke behind it and the way he sent the cannon balls to the plate was terrifying. His marksmanship was above the average and he mowed down the ranks of the Insurrectos as fast as they appeared on the scene of battle, and came out with flying colors with ten strike-outs, no casualties, and no passes issued. "Cuellar's" "vindup" was like that of a fourteen day clock and he had the Insurrectos afraid that his arm would come along with the cannon balls that were sent up for their inspection.

"Orozco" Jim Saulsberry, being the director of the cannon balls for the Insurrectos, served them up in rainbow style and managed to strike out eleven men. "Orozco" got his distance gaged wrong at times and issued three passes, and one casualty reported.

The Insurrectos evidently had been studying the science of aviation, and got out with twenty-one errors, while the Federals decided to stay nearer home and got out with eleven errors. The Insurrectos decided in the seventh to see what was going on in the enemy's camp and made the altitude record by letting in six men. After holding a consultation they came back to earth and only let in one man in the next inning.

"Escudero" Dean Sherry relieved "Cuellar" Pelphrey in the ninth inning, "Cuellar" holding down the sawdust on first. "Escudero" went to work like a machine gun and shot them in so fast that the Insurrectos were kept busy trying to locate them. He struck out two and allowed only one hit. At one time in the game, the Insurrectos had it in for "Escudero" and tried to keep him tied at sec-
